THE SUICIDE CLUB

NEW ARABIAN NIGHTS TALE OF MYSTERY AND ADVENTURE

By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

Assuming disputes. Prince Fiortisel of Bolumia and his confidant and Master of Horse. Oil devicines, set out cas night in London is search of adventure. They are in an eyerr have despatched the body to never have despatched the body to the care of the actual oriminal."

"The actual oriminal." "The actual oriminal is search to adventure. They are in an eyer have despatched the body to the care of the actual oriminal." "The actual ori another from and set at a roug green table, where the President deals a pack of cards. The ace of spades means death to the person who gets it, and the ace of clubs designates the member is whose hands the fate of the victum is lest. Mr.

whose heads the fate of the victim is lest. Mr. Malibius turns up the fatal card. The roung man of the cream tarts finds himself with the acc of clubs, which marss him as the seccutioner. The next morning Prince Florisel and Coi. Geraldine rend in a newspaper of the death of Mr. Maiting, who, it is stated, fell from the upper perspet in Trafalgar Square while on his way home from a party. A friend, it appeared, was home from a party. A friend, it appeared, was home from a party. A friend, it appeared, was home from a party. A friend, it appeared, was home from a party. A friend, it appeared, was home from a party. A friend, it appeared, was home from a party. A friend, it appeared, was home friend but he determines to return to the Buiched Club and interest himself in the fortunes of the roung man who was compelled to till Mr. Malthus, He declares, too, that he will indig to account the Frendent of the club, satisfied that the man is a scoundral, On his second rist the Prince is dealt the see of spades. He is instructed to waik along the strand until he comes of Box Court, however, Frince Florisel is pounced upon by three men and thrust interest approach is the leaser Indian hill wars, earnings. He time recluses that he appeared by the Colema, too that he appeared himself in one of the leaser Indian hill wars.

He it was who took the chieftain prisoner with his own hand, younger brother be permitted to fight a duet with the President, and the Prince reluctantly con-sents. Meanwhile the Prince breaks up the Suede Cinb.
"The Mistory of the Physician and the Sarategs Trunk" forms the second part of the tale.

learn the discretion that suits mortal so much as the shadow of an advenlife, and be no longer dazzled with ture for himself. the image of power at your disposal? "All in good time," he reflected. Power!" he cried, "who is more pow- "I am still a stranger, and perhaps Blood Circulation whom I have sacrificed, Mr. Scudda- drawn into the eddy before long."

is to be a prince."

must believer had he been neivy to Here (observes my Arabian author) is the end of 'The History of the Physician and the Saratoga Trunk." Omitting some reflections on the chieftain prisoner with his own hand, his gallantry was universally applauded, and when he came home, prostrated by an ugly sabre cut and a protracted jungle fever, society Siles Q. Souddamore is a young American hving was prepared to welcome the Lieuna the Latin Quarter of Paria. Occupying the tenant as a celebrity of minor lustre, sent mean to his in a botal is a mysteriaus But his was a character remarkable recent files in handed a letter in feminine handwitting inviting him to a students' ball at 11 was dear to his heart, but he cared little for adulation, and he waited at the large a hand upon his arm, she asks him foreign watering places and in Alton the set has a 11 o'clock the next night at the giers until the fame of his exploits the mean of the Luxembourg Gardens and the Bourhard Transport Gardens was prepared to welcome the Lieucomes of the Luxembourg Gardens and the Boulevers, and exacts from him a promise that he will order the porter to admit no one who calls to make him except a person who may come to call arthe strange woman awaiting him. He returns to the hotsi to find a dead man in his bed,

The body is that of a blond young man he had seem at the ball the night before. Dr. Noel tage at the door and is admitted. Offering to neiph filtse out of his dilemma, he suggests that the lights out of his dilemma, he suggests that the left he put in a flaratoga trunk belonging to the begins. Siles is to make the journey as a shook hands with a few old commember of the suits. Arriving in London withrades, and received their warm conment of the suits and directs the footman gratulations; but as one and all had sold fortune.

Archbishop of Canterbury, the English attribute the enshrinement of the horseshoe as a symbol of gratulations; but as one and all had
sold fortune.

St. Dunstan, the patron of switchs Engrish attributes as a standard files as placed as a second control of the second of erless? I look upon this young man wear a strange air. But I must be more, and feel how small a thing it The night was already well advanced when a plump of cold rain fell

Why

by The Print Printing Co.

By Maurice Ketten

had run through its nine days' vi. through which the flying hansom the cabman was amusing himself by the speed which convinced him of the at once astonished at the fellow's tality and begun to be forgotten. He took its way, that Brackenbury soon driving him round and in contrary. The an had an object skill in picking a way through such invited you." arrived in London at last, in the lost all idea of direction. He would and out about a small quarter, but in view, he was hastening toward a a labyrinth, and a little concerned have been tempted to billeve that there was something businessike in definite end, and Brackenbury was to imagine what was the occasion of lent that the horseshoe is charm against the Evil One.

"A Horseshoe

THE first to discover and demonstrate the circulation of the blood was William Harvey, an of her acquaintance to HE first to discover and demon-Silas was moved at the sight of suddenly out of the darkness, Brackhis emotion. He tried to murmur enbury paused under some trees, and years ago. The circulation of the Or her mother may ask him to call.

A Luncheon. some consolatory words, and burst as he did so, he caught sight of a blood through the lungs was hinted some consolatory words, and burst as he did so, he caught sight of a into tears. The prince, touched by hansom cabman making him a sign his obvious intention, came up to him by the hand.

"Command yourself!" said he. "We casion that he at once raised his ave both much to learn and we shall care in answer, and had soon ensetting."

"Slias thanked him in silence with an affectionate look.

"Where to, sir?" asked the driver.

"Where you please," said Bracken.

"Where you please," said Bracken.

"Where you please," said Bracken.

"White me the address of Dr. Noel with plees of paper," continued.

"A. D." writes: "I am eighteen has son daying that he atint beautiful old saying that when the bady smiles in his serve refreshments to her men callers, and if they are served they may be spitished an account of the general circulation, of which he had some confused ideas, in 1565, Father Paolo of Wenice, whose real name was Peter Sarpi, discovered the valves which serve for a young man to bring a gift to a girl every time serve for circulation, but the honor of the positive discovery has a lawys been accorded to Harvey. The latter was the son of a yeoman in Kent and the oldest of nine children. He became a doctor of medicine in 1662, it was niveled."

"Write me the address of Dr. Noel bury.

And immediately, at a pace of sureWrite me the address of Dr. Noel bury.

on this piece of paper," continued the prime, leading him toward the prime of life, was a physician to St. Bartholomew's Hospital and the St. Bartholomew's Hospital and the sen for a long time. I have many boy friends. Is it proper that he made the discovery with her mother may be angry. She cannot come to the city. What shall I have many boy friends. Is it proper that he made the discovery with her mother may be angry. She cannot come to the city. What shall I have many boy friends. Is it proper that he made the discovery with her mother may be angry. She cannot come to the city. What shall I have many boy friends. Is it proper that he made the discovery with her mother may be angry. She cannot come to the city. What shall I have many boy friends. Is it proper that he made the discovery with her mother may be angry. She cannot come to the city. What shall I have many boy friends. Is it proper that he made the discovery with her mother may be angry. She cannot come to the city. What shall I have many boy friends. Is it proper that he made the discovery with her mother may be angry. She cannot come to the city. What shall I have many boy friends. Is it proper that he made the discovery with her mother may be angry. The material and material and the call on her, but I have many boy friends. Is it proper that he made the discovery with her mother may be angry. The material and the call on her, but I have many boy friends. Is it proper to the college of physicians and an considered good looking. I have many boy friends. Is it proper to the college of physicians and an considered good looking. I have many boy friends is it

Dollars and Sense

curred one day as I was selecting a couple of shirts in a haberdasher's which suggested an important which is suggested an important which is suggested and important which is suggested an important which is suggested and important which is suggested an important which is suggested which is suggested an important which is suggested w

Betty Vincent's Advice to Lovers

HE etiquette of calls seems to be | "E. B." writes: "Do you think it misunderstood by many of my right for a girl in her 'teens to play kissing games at a party?"

call on her. She should wait till he dren. It is not necessary for a girl to "A. D." writes: "I am eighteen

Wit, Wisdom and Philosophy

THE BABY-Mark Twain.

TOAST: The Bables -as they com fort us in our sorrows let us not you travelled along with the baby, greeted him with an air at one; not a word of the following discourse; Sentimental young folks still take stock in that beautiful old saying courtly and affectionate. Hundreds "I beg you a thousand pardons!" that when 1.2 baby smiles in his of candles, of the finest wax, lighted began Mr. Marris, with the most consider it is because the angels are up a room that was perfumed, like the chiatory manner, "and, if I appear whispering to him. Too thin—too staircase, with a profusion of rare and rude, I am sure you will readily for-

If you thought you'd killed a man, but found you hadn't. if you hadn't committed a robbery, but found yourself accused of it -

I comprehensive con demons from the constitution to the constitution of the constituti

"THE IRON RIDER"

By FRANK L. PACKARD NEXT WEEK'S COMPLETE NOVEL IN THE EVENING WORLD

You'll have to read this stirring story to learn how a beautiful Russian girl helped him to establish his innocence his hurry. He ad heard tales of in a private gambling saloon, and the strangers falling til in London. Did ce man was a tout." the driver belong to some bloody and cherous associa ! and was be himself being whirled to a nurderous

The thought had scarcely presented itself when the cab swung sharply round a corner and pulled up before the garden gate of a villa in a long looks returned from this rapid survey. and wide road. The house was bril- At a second view Mr. Morris surliantly lighted up. Another hansom prised him still more than on the first. had just driven away, and Bracken- The easy elegance of his manners, the bury could see a gentleman being ad- distinction, amiability and courage mitted at the front door and re- that appeared upon his features fitted ceived by several liveried servants. very ill with the lieutenant's precon-He was surprised that the cabman ceptions on the subject of the proshould have stopped so immediately prietor of a hell, and the tone of his in front of a house where a reception conversation seemed to mark him out was being held, but he did not doubt for a man of position and merit. it was the result of accident, and sat Brackenbury found he had an instincplacidly smoking where he was, until tive liking for his entertainer, and he heard the trap thrown open over though he chid himself for his weakhis head.

"Here we are, sir," said the driver, friendly attraction for Mr. Morris's "Here!" repeated Brackenbury, person and character, Where?"

pleased, sir," returned the man, with "and believe me, I am gratified to a chuckle, "and here we are."

voice was wonderfully smooth and preceded you from India. And if you courteous for a man in so inferior will forget for awhile the irregulara position; he remembered the speed ity of your presentation in my house, at which he had been driven, and I shall feel it not only an honor, but now it occurred to him that the han- a genuine pleasure besides. A man som was more luxuriously appointed who makes a mouthful of barbarian than the common run of public con- cavallers," he added, with a laugh,

"I must ask you to explain," said of eliquette, however serious," he. "Do you mean to turn me out into the rain? My good man, I suspect the choice is mine."

you all I believe I know how a gentleman of your figure will decide. There is a gentleman's party in this house. I do not know whether the as many as I pleased, but military lieutenant.

Morris is the person of the house."

e went on, "what then?"

blow for blow, but when he clawed with a number in return, and po- drew hear him from the principal your whiskers and pulled your hair littly hurried him up a stair adorned apartment. Peering through the di and twisted your nose you had to with tropical flowers, to the door of vision he saw Mr. Morris escorting take it. When the thunders of war an apartment on the first story. Here a fat and ruddy personare, with an apartment on the first story. Here a fat and ruddy personare, with were sounding in your ears, you set were sounding in your ears, you set your faces toward the batteries and a grave butler inquired his name, summercial traveller, whom Brackenbury had all advanced with steady tread; but and announcing "Lieut, Brackenbury traveller, whom Brackenbury land

Do you think it would be proper to accept his invitation?"

If the baby proposed to take a walk at his usual hour—2.30 in the morning accept his invitation?"

I think you might in the circumstances as you have described them, and provided your employer continues to treat you with perfect respect.

If the baby proposed to take a walk at his usual hour—2.30 in the morning shrubs. A side sive me. In a place so great as Londan's your rise up promptly and remark, with a mental addition, that that was the very thing you were about to propose yourself?

The idea that a baby does not amount to anything! Why core in a number, all men for the propose and the best that was the very thing you were about to propose yourself?

The idea that a baby does not amount to anything! Why core in a number, all men for the propose and the best that was the very thing you were about to propose yourself?

The idea that a baby does not amount to anything! Why core is a same proposed to take a walk becautiful flowering shrubs. A side sive me. In a place so great as Londan's your might be accept his invitation?

If the baby proposed to take a walk becautiful flowering shrubs. A side sive me. In a place so great as Londan's your might be accept his invitation?

If the baby proposed to take a walk becautiful flowering shrubs. A side sive me. In a place so great as Londan's your mental addition, that that was the very thing you were about to propose yourself?

The idea that a baby does not sixteen in number, all men to the place and rude, I am sure you will readily for the proposed with tempting don accidents must continue that the was becautiful flowering shrubs. A side sive me. In a place are great as Londan's your might be accept his invitation? and provided your employer continues. The idea that a baby does not to treat you with perfect respect.

"M. H." writes: "I am fourteen by itself. One baby can furnish more and considered good looking."

The idea that a baby does not sixteen in number, all men, few be, that I fear you have made a mistake yound the prime of life, and, with and honored my poor house by interesting the interesting of the prime of life, and with and honored my poor house by interesting the interesting of the prime of life, and with and honored my poor house by interesting the interesting of the prime of life, and with and honored my poor house by interesting the interesting of the prime of life, and with and honored my poor house by interesting the interesting of the prime of life, and with and honored my poor house by interesting the interesting of the prime of life, and with and honored my poor house by interesting the interesting of the prime of life, and with any honored my poor house by interesting the interesting of the prime of life, and with any honored my poor house by interesting the prime of life, and with any honored my poor house by interesting the prime of life, and the prime of life, into two groups, one about a roulette ance. Let me put the question withboard and the other surrounding a tween gentlemen of bonor a word will table at which one of their number suffice

"I see," 'hought Brackenbury, 'I am

YOU'D BE LIKE THE HERO OF

CONTRACTOR CONTRACTOR

The House of Mystery.

IS eyes had embraced the details and his mind formed the conclusion while his host was still holding him by the hand, and to him his

"I have heard of you, Lleut, Rich," "You told me to take you where I said Mr. Morris, lowering his tone, make your acquaintance. Your looks It struck Brackenbury that the accord with the reputation that has "should not be appalled by a breach ness he was unable to resist a sort of

And he led him toward the sideboard and pressed him to partake of some refreshment.

"Upon my word," the Lieutenant replied the driver, "but when I tell reflected, "this is one of the pleasantthe most agreeable societies in London."

He partook of some champagne, master be a stranger to London and which he found excellent, and obwithout acquaintances of his own; or serving that many of the company whether he is a man of odd notions. Were already smoking, he lighted one But certainly I was hired to kidnap of his own Manilas and strolled up single gentlemen in evening dress, to the roulette board, where he sometimes made a stake, and sometimes officers by preference. You have sim- looked on smilingly on the fortune ply to go in and say that Mr. Morris of others. It was while he was thus idling that he became aware of a "Are you Mr. Morris?" inquired the sharp scrutiny to which the whole of the guests were subjected. Mr. Morris "Oh, no," replied the cabman. "Mr. Went here and there, ostensibly busled on hospitable concerns; but he "It is not a common way of col. had ever a shrewd glance at disposal; lecting guests," said Brackenbury; not a man of the party escaped as "but an eccentric man might very sudden, searching look; he took stock well indulge the whim without any of the bearing of heavy losers; he intention to offend. And suppose valued the amount of the stakes; he that I refuse Mr. Morris's invitation," paused behind couples who were deep in conversation, and, in a word, there "My orders are to drive you back was hardly a characteristic of any where I took you from," replied the one present but he seemed to catch and make a note of it. Brackenbury advanced with steady tread; but and announcing "Leut. Brackenbury traveller, whom Brackenbury had al-when he turned on the terrors of his Rich," ushered him into the drawing. ready remarked for his coarse laugh How many things you learned as larly handsome, came forward and the window, so that Brackenbury lost er suffice—under whose roof do you suppose your gif to be?"

(To Be Continued)